Though we are in the same place We surely know the beauty Of each other's face Into each other We are not loving

Though we know where we are coming And the sun for light in heaven is sunning Into each other we are never running

We can for long time
Talk and talk
But no matter how long we may talk
We are not talking

We may trip for miles
And no matter how we travel
We are never walking

Though we are in the same place We surely know the beauty of each other's face Into each other we are not loving

And though we know where we are coming And the sun for light in heaven is sunning Into each other we are never running

We can for long time talk and talk But no matter how long we may talk We are not talking

We may trip for miles and miles
But no matter how we travel
We are walking
We are never walking
We are never talking
We are never walking
We are never walking
