

Reason Why

Ron Pope

I was waiting on the clouds to break I was praying for a chance to take and every sleepless night that I have known has brought me here and so I hope that times will change, and I'll feel safe and you won't go away yeah, times will change, and I'll feel safe and you won't go away

And there is a story here, I feel it I've searched for something real, and I believe this You found me on the ground where I was bleedin' and you came around
I'd had enough, I'd given up, I was broken
Left to rust, hollowed out, life seemed hopeless, here you are, you see my scars, but still you're dryin' these eyes cause you are my, you are my, you are my reason why you are my, you are my, you are my reason why

I was searchin' for a place to go, somewhere to rest my head
I'm tired of being alone
And if theres room for me inside your bed
Just keep me warm, and don't forget That life is sweet, so no regrets, and let's not sleep alone
Yeah, life is sweet, so no regrets, and let's not sleep alone

[Chorus]

And what would you say, if I told you my secrets
If I sang you my song
Would you walk away, or would you hold on

I'd had enough, I'd given up, I was broken
But here you are, you see my scars, and you're still dryin' these eyes
You are my, you are my, you are my reason why

I'd had enough, I'd given up, I was broken
But here you are, you see my scars, and you're still dryin' these eyes
You are my, you are my, you are my reason why
You are my, you are my, you are my reason why
You are my, you are my, you are my reason why
