

Wait For You

Ron Pope

Started farewells when I walked through the door
I'm too out of breath for hellos anymore
Been biding my time waiting on you to return

I'm trying to learn how to live with regret
Just too many times I couldn't forget
There's a ghost in my house
Wind rushing clean through my hands

Sometimes I don't believe in anything
So many things I never knew
I may seem lost but know this I swear is true
I will wait for you

Now I'm wandering here at the edge of the world
And I haven't got much, just a pen and some words
And a picture of us I chased when it caught in the breeze

Been cursing the dark as I lay here alone
And I'm learning some things I wish I didn't know
And I'm praying for sleep, salvation, or somewhere to go

Sometimes I don't believe in anything
So many things I never knew
I may seem lost but know this I swear is true
I will wait for you

I won't go until you make me go (12x)
Away

Sometimes I don't believe in anything
So many things I never knew
I may seem lost but know this I swear is true
I will wait for you
