Whistling over trestles And past the graveyard sign We cast our wayward line Inside a wishing well

We've just a wish and an empty vessel A hole to fill with days On a road where children stray Then pray there is no hell And as for heaven, well

If seeing
If seeing is believing
I'll believe it
Believe it when I see it
I'll believe it when I see it
With my own two eyes

If seeing
If seeing is believing
I'll believe it
Believe it when I see it
I'll believe it when I see it
With my own two eyes

This ain't no random shuffle There's reason in these rhymes A season and a time In a climate of fear and blood

In the tavern two men did scuffle Their drunken battle moaned They groaned like cattle groan No diamonds here in the rough And as for peace and love

If seeing
If seeing is believing
I'll believe it
Believe it when I see it
I'll believe it when I see it
With my own two eyes

If seeing
If seeing is believing
I'll believe it
Believe it when I see it
I'll believe it when I see it
With my own two eyes

And when faced with a difficult decision Would you listen to your heart or mind We're bound to waste all our free will and ambition If we got no vision and we got no spine

And as for peace of mind

If seeing
If seeing is believing
I'll believe it
Believe it when I see it
I'll believe it when I see it
With my own two eyes

If seeing
If seeing is believing
I'll believe it
Believe it when I see it
I'll believe it when I see it
With my own two eyes

See it with my own two eyes
