

Let Me Love You

Ronan Keating

Teenage nights, tickets stops, animal lines
Catching the bus, waiting underneath streets lights
The sky was gold, the moon was low
We were higher, some of our goodbyes
Something 'bout the two of us
Maybe it was only silent
Until our stars aligned
Let me love you
Now I know what love is for
I don't need to search no more
Never ever felt so sure
Now I know what love is for

Last thing I know you were traveling now
Seeing the world,
Not touching the ground,
I saw you in a photograph
I never said what I needed to say
I left it till late and you slipped away
Some of us don't go on
There were flames through the roof
You walked in the room
So, let me love you
Now I know what love is for
I don't need to search no more
I never ever felt so sure
So, let me love you
Should've told you long before
Now I know what love is for

So, let me love you
Now I know what love is for
I don't need to search no more
I've never ever felt so sure
Yeah, let me love you
I've never known a love before
I've never ever felt so sure
I should've told you long before
Now I know what love is for!

Teenage nights, tickets stops, animal lines
Catching the bus
Something 'bout the two of us.
