Calling the World

I remember when you told me "Do what you want, do are what you want, baby" I can't get you out of my head You're everywhere and everyone

I'm calling the world Calling everyone I'm calling the world Calling everyone for you, for you

Then you ran off, in a hurry Where did you go, I haven't seen you since Friday I've been wasting all of my time Worrying about you everyday

I'm calling the world Calling everyone I'm calling the world Calling everyone for you, for you

I called your best friend And your little brother But they didn't wanna talk They said you changed your locks I called every number in the phonebook But everybody lied They said you wanna, you wanna hide

Calling the world, calling everyone I'm calling the world Calling everyone, calling everyone

For you, for you

I'm calling the world
I'm calling the world
I'm calling the world

For you, for you
