

Corners Of My Mind

Rootz Underground

When the rain is falling down
That means the storm is starting now
When the thunder's in my eyes
It will come as no surprise
And if u would take the time
You would slowly look inside
And you'd see there's REVOLUTION
In the Corners of my mind

Now the storm has reared its head
And destruction's all around
And those blue sky's that you're used to Slowly come crashing down
And if u would take the time
You would slowly look inside
And you'd see there's EVOLUTION
In the Corners of my mind

Hail Jah for this breath of life and for shelter from the storm and tonight I'll light the fire and I know we will be warm and you burning while you're yearning to hold back those sands of time And you'd see the WORLD IS TURNING
In the Corners of my mind

Now there's bombs on a city street
Day by day Jah Jah children Die
And that syncopated beat
Won't be enough to satisfy
So if you could take the time u would slowly look inside
And you'd see there's REVELATION
In the Corners of my mind

And I've been through REVOLUTION
In the corners of my mind
And I've been through EVOLUTION
And I've been through RE-EVALUTION
In the corners of my mind
Its always the same Babylonian situation

In the Corners of my mind now
In the Corners of my mind now
