

A Silver Meridian

Rosaline

Faith is a shield that we'll hold together every step of the way.

Shining a radiant path through the fog (by your side)

If you go down, I'm going with you

What else would you expect me to do?

I'll be there by your side ready to pull you up

As grey as your eyes, a constant north to the starboard side

I know we'll reach it, of this, I'm sure

A restless needle held by time, maps laid face to face

Direction, compass, lights in the sky

Altruism glowing bright

Set sail it's right in front of us

You know I'll be by your side

As grey as your eyes, a constant north on the starboard side

I know we'll reach it, of this, I'm sure
