Sleeping In Paris

Rosanne Cash

I'll send the angels to watch over you tonight And you send them right back to me A lonely road is a bodyguard If we really want it to be

There's fascination behind every window But I know you really care for me And soon we'll be sleeping in Paris And we can set those angels free

No one sees behind the mask No one knows I'm sinking fast But soon we'll be sleeping in Paris And we can set those angels free

Love is just a lunar slave It's tied to the ebb and flow Generations get glued to the waves Just to see which way they'll go

There's desperation on wild street corners But I think you're just waiting for me And soon we'll be sleeping in Paris And we can set those wild ones free

No one sees behind the door But every day it's one step forward And soon we'll be sleeping in Paris And we can set those wild ones free

All those nights I laid with my eyes closed But not sleeping at all, those nights I thought I knew which way the wind blows But now it's blowing me back to you And the wind speaks French too

No one sees and no one knows But every day I'm letting go And soon we'll be sleeping in Paris Soon we'll be sleeping in Paris And we can set those angels free