

Death And Texas

Roses Are Red

just saw the world today-from your point of view- seems like you tried so hard- to put a foot print on my heart- as you stare into the clouds- there is one thing waiting- sad, there is no one around to say "don't try this at home"- on the couch watching all your favorite shows- and the one thing that keeps you here- is knowing you're alive- get up, get up, the world is on fire- get up, get up today- just when you think your running on empty- your going to fight today