

Remember Me

Roses Are Red

There's something going on here
Something very wrong
Burn a bridge and drink the water from below
From every way I've grown
And every thing I've known
I should've wondered long ago

I'm watching, waiting, for something to make this all worthwhile
Yearning, burning out into the night

So remember me
And see your revolution
It's happening, it's happening
Will I ever be, a part of the solution?
It's everything, it's everything

I've never been prepared
Never even cared
Cause this desert woman has me by the hand
From every way I've grown
And every thing I've known
I should've wondered long ago

I'm watching, waiting, for something to make this all worthwhile
Yearning and burning out into the night

So remember me
And see your revolution
It's happening, it's happening
Will I ever be, a part of the solution?
It's everything, it's everything

Watching, waiting, for something to make this all worthwhile
Yearning and burning out into the night

So remember me
And see your revolution
It's happening, it's happening
Will I ever be, a part of the solution?
It's everything, it's everything
So remember me
And see your revolution
It's happening, it's happening
Will I ever be, a part of the solution?
It's everything, it's everything
