

Content Killer

Rotersand

Can't you see wherever we go
Another witch, another hero
With promises so bold and hollow,
We dare not doubt, just blindly follow

Endowed with target-group precision
They're taking over our decisions
Creeping right into our marrow
Setting up a reign of terror

Good and bad have joined their forces
Spreading lies in trojan horses
Skillfully disguised in laughter
To leave us wasted ever after

How can you tell what theirs and yours is
We had so many brainwash-courses
Whom can you trust, where can you turn to
When you've become the flame that burns you

Love me - I don't Believe me - I won't