

Far From Home

Rough Silk

Someday I'll find a way tonight I found just shame someday - my life delay might break this spell of fame

today is like tomorrow tomorrow's just like yesterday the tales below and the skies of time's decay someday may rule the show and silent waves the bay

today is like tomorrow
tomorrow's just like you and so I'm far from home

I'm miles away wherever I may roam
so I'm far from home
I'm miles away wherever I may roam
the waters flow the wild winds blow
I walk the line and here I go I'm far away from home someday - to run and hide in the workd outside to stay someday may tame the light only angels ride and stray

today is like tomorrow....

just one more word in spanish
"adios" I have to say I follow trails and vanish beyond the morning's grey someday I'll find "together" somewhere I'll find a trace someone to stand in weather and never fall from grace someday like now or never somewhen like joy and pain somehow to last forever against the streams and lost in vain and so I'm far from home.