

Somebody's Out There

Rough Silk

somebody's out there - calling your name in the night somebody's out there - somewhere somebody's out there with the cold winds of tomorrow somebody's turning the wheels of time the closer you get the deeper the night the stronger you feel the more you need someone to hold you tight a place you can hide

you and I - invisible whole life is such a miracle somebody - somebody - somebody's out there to name it all legends fall to tell about it

to blame it all - another wall to lead me back to you is there anybody out there - is he wise and is he real?

Does he pay attention when someone cries or what we feel?
Is he reading my nightmares, love affairs, against the wind car es got to be older or bolder or on my way?

you and I - invisible.....
