Too Many Footprints

Roy Drusky

I've tried to tell myself it's not important You fell in love so many times before But I won't be back to be another number

There are too many footprints on your floor Too many footprints on your floor And some of them were bigger shoes than mine

How many others have you Kissed goodnight at your front door? There are too many footprints on your floor

When I find love, I wanna find a true love I'm gonna stand where no one's stood before So, goodbye and if you must know why I'm leaving There are too many footprints on your floor
