All I Need Is Time

Roy Orbison

All I need is time, then I'll get over you A little at a time, a bit each day All I need is time to mend a dream or two Then I'll forget the love you took away

Morning's here again, just like the day before But the only change is that I love you more All I need is time, maybe a thousand years Maybe a million tears, but I need time

Everybody says the pain won't last too long Have a lot of fun and time will fly It took a lot of time till love was born in me And it'll take some time for love to die

Each and every day I spend forgetting you Brings another night I never quite get through All I need is time, maybe a thousand years Maybe a million tears, but I need time
