

An Empty Shell

Royal Hunt

I saw you all around the place - a sure, solid bet: no heart, no soul... a common face, as cold as you can get Without a clue, without a cause you're moving forward just because it's in your blood, cuz otherwise you're just an empty shell

Behind that almost perfect mask - no feelings, no remorse Remember: time is running fast, the sound of closing doors is getting louder every day. No use to look another way - you never had a real name, you're just an empty shell

The end is near - so unavoidable and rude - I guess you're dwelling on the past Whatever happens here is easy understood: you're never meant to last, you're never gonna last.

Without a clue, without a cause
you're moving forward just because
it's in your blood, cuz otherwise you're just an empty shell