Hunted

Royal Hunt

Facing every window, 'round every corner TV eyes are up and running, no one's gonna tell why nothing's ever sacred, nothing's ever private Everything's exposed and all our values shot to hell

But no one seens to know which reality to show Hunted, we're hunted down

Catching any moment, taping every sentence, watching from above - some kind of legalized abuse Any given second, every sungle minute analyzed, categorized for any later use

Still no one seems to know which reality to show Hunted, we're hunted down Hunted, I'm hunted down