

Kiss Of Faith

Royal Hunt

Only dead have seen the end of war
Knowing that, I feel a bit better
When do I remember what's happened before
Oh well, moving on to the heart of the matter

Father always told me 'bout men and mice
Being not afraid to take chances
Well, he said enough 'coz by the time he got iced
I was on my way, circumstanced
Let me out into the open
Boy, reality bites

Doesn't matter what you do, another crook gets rich
Doesn't mean a thing what's your calling
Living by your heart and whining "life is such a bitch"
Anyway you go, you're falling
To the bottom of the food chain
Let me show you the way

When the moon comes up and the sun goes down
I can change the whole world, feeling stronger
From the dead of night to the morning light
Getting ready to challenge my faith
When you're feeling weak and your life seems tough
You can't wait for a break any longer
Who can stone you cold, who can whip you down
If you'll steal a little kiss from your faith

Do I live as I live or I do as I do?
Don't you forget who told you
When life has no value, death has it's price
Just something I saw in my father's eyes

When the moon comes up and the sun goes down
I can change the whole world, feeling stronger
From the dead of night to the morning light
Getting ready to challenge my faith
When you're feeling weak and your life seems tough
You can't wait for a break any longer
Who can stone you cold, who can whip you down
If you'll steal a little kiss from your faith

Moon comes up, sun goes down
From the dead of night to the morning light
When you're feeling weak and your life seems tough
Who can stone you cold, who can whip you down
If you'll steal a little kiss from your faith
