

Start Over

Royal Tailor

Would you burn the best of things down
If in ashes answers could be found
Would you give it all until nothing's all that's left
Getting nothing in return but having nothing to regret
Could we find what was lost along the way
Cause I had something no one can replace
Could we take a chance and do it all again
Going back to the beginning and fight until the end

I'll be right beside you when the world is getting colder
We could become who we never were if we start over
The past is present til we're ready to move forward
And I believe that anything can change if we start over

Like a vapor, life can disappear
Don't waste a moment thinking what could have been
We all fall down, gotta get back up again
Knowing that at every ending is a chance to start again