

Home Again

RPWL

Now we don't talk anymore
It's not that I think you're not right
Maybe all was my fault
Another rainy day goes by
I wonder where you are
Maybe it's right to keep it dark
No chance to open up the door
It was me that failed once more

At the end of all our dreams
There's silence in our hearts
And we'll be home again
Our life will fade away
For a new life that will come
'cause we'll be home again

Like a fragment of the whole
Your picture's travelling across the sky
From a dark spot in the sun

Time is screaming out my name
Flowers grow too high
I can't resist it anymore

I hope you're happy that you closed the door
Was it me that failed once more?

I know there's on more life in need
I know there's one more heart that bleeds
I didn't start the game