

It's Alright

RPWL

Did you really think that daisy chains picked in vain
Put you to shame, I don't think so
Did you really think you're right to ask me why
Don't waste my time, no no not this way

Have you ever rode your bike across the sea
Couldn't be , now htat you're older
Standing in a line they're pushing from behind
You're getting closer, to the edge of time

A step to far you start too fall, but I'm here to hold you

It's alright but just for the moment
Make it happen for me
Here comes the oversized

Tell me what is left when all the days are gone
Will you be here and we're starting over
Follow me to watch us from behind the clouds
The game is over