Interlude

Rufio

we built these walls to last forever and now i'm planning my escape so we build then we burn is there any other way so these problems fade away cause we worked done our best and we've come so far along this road together on our own