

Any Love

Rufus

You go out every night as a single
But you don't really know what to do
You see someone that you'd like to mingle
And imagine that she is waiting for you

Any love that you feel
Is real
Any time that you use love
You lose love

There is no certain crowd that you run with

But your passions they never run thin
You say 'hi', they say 'hi' and it's done with Still you don't really love from deep within

Batted eyes and bitter tears
Price you pay for all the years
Of holding back what's deep inside
And living with a hell of a lot of lies
