Tear Down the Walls

Running Wild

Peculiar fragrance is all around Ascent of tranquility, wonderful rest Motions are slow, emotions are strong Invisible nightmare's sitting on my chest Feel so cool, light years away Life's so cruel, can't stand a single day Dangerous dreams of a distant world Stupyfied senses, a slow way to die Searching for shelter in clouds of smoke Escape from reality, meanest lie Feel so cool, light years away Life's so cruel, can't stand a single day Tear down the walls It appeared like a saviour to rescue my soul Creeping fraud sneaked slightly into my life It felt like a friend of very old days It came on velvet paws, it was a hellbound drive Feel so cool, light years away Life's so cruel, can't stand a single day Tear down the walls
