Acid rain and poison cauterize its skin A boiling hell we're living in Bloodstained animals, chainsaw rip the trees The gasping earth is on its knees Choking breath, causing death Exploitation is your law Overkill, break its will You loot it hard and raw Like you killed the white buffalo You kill ozone, you break its bones Like you killed the white buffalo You tan its hide, sell its meat on the side Once a source of glory, now a reborn hell Your ivory tower is where you dwell Gulping its vital lifeblood, pollution's rising high You squeeze it out, you leave it dry Choking breath, causing death Exploitation is your law Overkill, break its will You loot it hard and raw Like you killed the white buffalo You kill ozone, you break its bones Like you killed the white buffalo You tan its hide, sell its meat on the side Headless spraying poison Contaminating air and ground A misplaced sense of progress Will destroy the pound for pound Allergies and cancer The pay for evil greed Madness and corruption Have shown their evil seed Acid rain and poison cauterize its skin A boiling hell we're living in Bloodstained animals, chainsaw rip the trees The gasping earth is on its knees Choking breath, causing death Exploitation is your law Overkill, break its will You loot it hard and raw Like you killed the white buffalo You kill ozone, you break its bones Like you killed the white buffalo You tan its hide, sell its meat on the side Like you killed the white buffalo You kill ozone, you break its bones Like you killed the white buffalo You tan its hide, sell its meat on the side On the side Killed the white buffalo