

Going Home

Runrig

In the distant day was dawning
Comes to me the early morning
Something tells me that I'm going home
The brand new sun was shining bright
From the darkness fields of light
Something tells me that I'm going home
Going home
Where the summers coming in
And the moonlight on the river
Shows me where I've been
Soft the rain is gently falling
Light across the city morning
I get the feeling that I'm going home
Across the moorland, past the mountains
O'er the rivers beside the new stream
Something tells me that I'm going home
(Chorus)
(Chorus)
As the trains rolling nearer
Ah, the feeling just to be there,
Something tells me that I'm going home
Now the skylines reach my eyes
The ridge stands out in highland skies
I just can't believe I'm going home
Going home
