

Sweet Mary

Rusted Root

Where are you now that my sweet Mary done died Alone, alone, alone
Somewhere you say
where my sweet Mary Held her grave
in her arms
like an infant odyssey

Well you can
hush my little darlin'
don't you cry...
Hush beneath the dreams
we did roam
cause I do believe it will be just like the color when the purple sings
When I will know
for sure...

She was held to the blade laid down my sweet Mary dear She laid down upon the cold winter's floor and I remember what she said when she saw the snow turn to red
She said lord let me be the lord Let me be the lord

Well you can
hush my little darlin'
don't you cry
Hush beneath the dreams
we did roam

Cause I do believe it will be just like the color when
the purple sings
when yes this angel
will cover us...
