

So Long

Ruth Brown

So long,
hope we'll meet again some day.
Hope that maybe then you'll say,
"Darling, I was wrong."

So long,
gee, I hate to see you go.
You're the world to me you know. You've been mine so long.

All alone,
with my memories of you.
I can see that you're lonely too.

You're my own,
even though we're far apart,
I will keep you right here in my heart.

So long, so long
though you leave me here to cry,
this can never ever be "goodbye."
We'll just say so long.

Though you leave me here to cry,
this can never ever be "goodbye."
We'll just say so long.
