

I Feel You Climb

Sadist

In the future there will be many other situations perhaps better occasions but right now I have to tell you this morning I don't feel so good it runs like the wind that blows, I take a rest you've gone far away for a long trip through times those thoughts take and drag away, as strong as they were I'm yours, I lay on the ground you've won

you bring hidden hopes to me and play with my feelings a rucksack full of freshness blind eyes 'cause of a sick sun on my body, I feel you climb reason to breathe, join that today

on my body, I feel you climb
reason to breathe, join that today