

A Song For Me

Said the Whale

Write a song for me, my love
With your heart in your pen
Your poetry and a broken verse
The air that I breathe
And your golden words

Sing a song for me, my love
With your heart in your lungs
To carry your voice across the prairies
And over the mountains
And back home to me

And I'll sing a song for you, my love
And the birds will all know
And I'll carry my heart over the shivering leaves
And over great lakes and inland sea
And we'll carry my heart back home to thee
