

Let it all go

Sally Oldfield

Leaves at your feet that blow in the wind
And in the early morning breeze a new day begins,
And every leaf is breathing deep and strong and free,
Just one life moving through you and me!

Oh, let it all go! It's trying to find you,
Oh, if you want it to be so it's right beside you,
Oh, let it all go! You're part of the flow
It's all that you know, there's just one way to go.

Leaves at your feet that blow in the wind
And in the early morning breeze a new day begins,
And every leaf is breathing deep and strong and free,
Just one life moving through you and me!

Oh, let it all go! It's trying to find you,
Oh, if you want it to be so it's right beside you,
Oh, let it all go! You're part of the flow
It's all that you know, there's just one way to go.

Oh, let it all go! It's trying to find you,
Oh, if you want it to be so it's right beside you,
Oh, let it all go! ...