

Summer Of Love

Sally Oldfield

Your plane flies high into the California sky
I hear the engines fade and die
And my heart is asking why you know
But dreaming is a holy thing
And love is deeper than we know
It's saying "Don't let go!"

R:

In the summer of love, in the summer of pain
I feel my heart will break again
In the summer of love I will remember
In the summer of love, in the summer of rain
I feel the sweet surrender
And I need the summer of love so warm and tender

Under the stormy sky I wipe the raindrops out of my eyes
As I turn and walk into the night
To face a long and lonely fight
Alone and lost in the city of angels
I stand and watch a falling star
I wonder where you are

R:

A warm gentle rain is falling down
It's flowing and healing
And it's shining in the night
All around, it's all around
And I know the time will come
In the summer of love, in the summer of love!

R:

In the summer of love!
In the summer of love, in the summer of pain
I feel my heart will break again
In the summer of love I will remember
In the summer of love!
In the summer of love, in the summer of rain
I feel the sweet surrender
And I need the summer of love so warm and tender
