

you break like a wave

Sally Oldfield

You break like a wave on my deserted shoreline,
You rise like the sun on my dark horizon line,
Like icy raindrops falling on sunbrunt skin,
Such a sweet fire, I wanna let it all begin!
You break like a wave on my deserted shoreline,
You rise like the sun in the dark night of the forest,
A song of summer is playing in the light,
When you're close to me or touch me, hold me
You are like the sun breaking through this endless night.

I'm gonna love again! I'm gonna hurt again
I'm gonna cry in the night again,
Oh I can hear every heartbeat when I'm standing close to you,
I'm gonna love again! I'm gonna hurt again
I'm gonna live inside the light again
Oh, come on, come on, come closer to me, I really want your love in'!

You break like a wave on my deserted shoreline,
You rise like the sun on my dark horizon line,
You break like a wave!

A burning ember is kindled in the dark
By one look, one spark, one heartbeat
And we're lovers, never looking back again
Oh I can feel the flame!
