

Call Me

Sam Brown

As a reflection, there is only one
But when I break the mirror
I see all the sides to me
So many faces to so many people
So how do I know who to be

Call me baby, call me love
Call me as you fill me up
Call me when you move inside
Tell me then what do you find
Call me mother call me wife
Call me to another life
Call me 'cos I know I'm free
Tell me now what should I be
Call me

Where is the line, between you and me
Does it move back and forth
Like the tide to the sea
Does it rage against me, or will it lull me to sleep
I am anchorless
Here in the deep

Call me baby, call me love
Call me as you fill me up
Call me when you move inside
Tell me then what do you find
Call me mother call me wife
Call me to another life
Call me 'cos I know I'm free
Tell me now what should I be
Call me
