

Little Things You Do

Sam Cooke

Love without devotion can never be true
You can show emotion in the little things you do
Words when kindly spoken can make dreams seem true
But more than words can say are the little things you do
(The little things you do)

A tender touch can mean so much, a card, a letter when away
Each little smile is so worthwhile to show affection each day
Love can be so tender and always be true
But love must have assurance by those little things you do
(Love must have assurance and you can make it true)

By the little tings you do
