

When It's Alright

Sam Smith

When the night,
comes falling in your eyes.
And you rain your love of me.
I feel your heartbeat,
beating next to mine.
There's nothing more for me
let it beat

When it's alright,
the feeling is so good.
And when it's alright,
I know my heart is understood
And when it's alright,
There's nothing I can do,
but give my life to you.

When it's alright
When it's alright
When it's alright

When it's alright,
the feeling is so good.
And when it's alright,
I know my heart is understood.
And when it's alright,
There's nothing I can do,
but give my life to you.

When the morning,
comes dawning in your eyes
and you rain your love of me.
While I am as helpless,
as a cloud up in the sky.
You push away my fears and now you're here.

And when it's alright,
the feeling is so good.
And when it's alright,
I know my heart is understood.
And when it's alright,
There's nothing I can do,
but give my life to you.

When it's alright
When it's alright
When it's alright
the feeling is so good.
And when it's alright

And when it's alright,
the feeling is so good.
And when it's alright,
I know my heart is understood.
And when it's alright,
There's nothing I can do,
but give my life to you.

And when it's alright,
the feeling is so good.

I know my heart is understood.

There's nothing I can do,
but give my life to you.
