Heliopolis

Sometimes it's all within your very heart and soul Reaching the universe known and unknown Penetrating mysteries well hidden to the world Delivering secrecies of sacred ecstacy If you believe in your dreams it gives you the power To transcend realities which are not of your own Recalling what you where projecting what you'll be Looking at the picture of your next step in life Feel alive, feel so real Feel like I'm born again Ruling over my dreams Exulting, entering The world of miracles Doors are open, bright days are calling The better of the best has to be different Each angle of your view presents a new horizon Staring at where you go, not looking where you are A symptom of vertigo says you're gonna go far Feel alive, feel so real Feel like I'm born again Ruling over my dreams Exulting, entering The world of miracles Doors are open, bright days are calling Pleasure and delight extended in souvenirs Searching and hunting lights of upcoming voyages Osmosis and rapture emphasized in actions Settling foundations of an ever-changing life A simple expression of the force in control Self-realization by melting differences Encrypted messages that one reads in others That all things at all times aspire to be justified Feel alive, feel so real Feel like I'm born again Ruling over my dreams Exulting, entering The world of miracles Doors are open, bright days are calling Feel alive, feel so real Feel like I'm born again Ruling over my dreams Exulting, entering The world of miracles Doors are open, bright days are calling
