In the morning I put on my makeup to hide the sadness deep inside

This face of many can't hide those tears Re-living broken years

I guess it's just the same for you

You gave me love, you gave me pain You gave me everything again You gave me love, you gave me pain

You've got the power
You've got the strength inside to make a change
There is a love out there that stays the same
You've got the power
You've got the power

Without warning

I stumbled blind; I fell into the night I couldn't feel to figh t.

In this moment

I couldn't give a damn the lies you speak I wouldn't care if you were faking me

I guess it's just the same for you

You gave me love, you gave me pain You gave me everything again You gave me love, you gave me pain

You've got the power
You've got the strength inside to make a change
There is a love out there that stays the same
You've got the power
You've got the power