

Waves Of Change

Samantha James

I can hear your calling
from the distant plain
I can feel you falling
miles from yesterday
I can hear your calling
from the distant plain

We can dim the light of day watching colors drift away Fleeting like the sound of love reflecting light back to the sun

Listen as the silence plays washing darkness from the shade Standing on the center stage building castles in the rain

Be my strength
Show me the way
Come to life
Come and feel the sun (come and feel the sun)
Lift your hands, embrace
Breaking waves of change

Counting down to higher days Consciously we elevate Blowing all the dust away
Speaking truth to those who wait

Be my strength
Show me the way
Come to life
Come and feel the sun (come and feel the sun)
Lift your hands, embrace
Breaking waves of change

I can hear your calling
from the distant plain
'cause in this moment I feel love
I can feel you falling
miles from yesterday
'cause in this moment we are loved nobody here is lonely
Nobody here is lonely

Come to life
Come and feel the sun (come and feel the sun)
Lift your hands, embrace
Breaking waves of change