```
I've tried to tell you how I'm feeling
But something's always lost along the way
From my heart to your mind it never comes out right
You don't want to hear it anyway
Do you want to be loved
Always trying to make sure
You never get any more then you deserve
And you won't settle for less
Then less than second best
You're never disappointed that way
Do you want to be loved
Who would someone who'd want someone like you
Do you want to be loved
Who would someone who'd want someone like you
Who would someone who'd want someone like you
Who would someone who'd want someone like you
```

Who would someone who'd want someone like you