

Nightly

Samiam

You are recreating me in half tone remade simplified
Your golden invitations strobe through the leaves
Leading me away from the only home that I have ever known

Lately you seem to be light years away
I'm not prepared to follow you that far
How brightly illuminated you are when you choose to be

While nightly I wait here for you
Where rightly you should be too

Oh, wherever you are
Without you I feel so out of place
Oh, wherever you are
Without you, without you it's only cold and empty space

If you change your mind, that's alright with me
Don't lead me on, I've seen it all before
I know you will always be on your own trip

While nightly I wait here for you
Where rightly you should be too

Oh, wherever you are
Without you I feel so out of place
Oh, wherever you are
Without you, without you it's only cold and empty space