

Trusty

Samiam

There has been times, even I didn't care
And it wouldn't even matter if no one else was there
And trust was just a word, I was far from despair
Now it's broken trust for my fragile faith to bare

And now I know, it's not you I have to blame
Yeah, I really know, it's not you I have to blame
And now I know, it's not you I have to blame
Yeah, I really know, it's not you I have to blame

Sitting here in a hole, the sky's lit so dimly
My mind is spinning confusion, my spine is both hot and cold
This hole is dark and wet now, it's here I dwell with betrayal
I's lying face down in the mud, will someone please pick me up?

And now I know, it's not you I have to blame
Yeah, I really know, it's not you I have to blame
Now I know, it's not you I have to blame
Yeah, I really know, it's not you I have to blame