San Cisco

If you're gonna break his heart could you break it gently pleas e

Cos he is all you've got and you are all he needs and If you're going to throw it all, then throw it to the water Tell me, tell me if you feel it at all

You never felt that much, you never felt that love so When you turned around saw him lying on the ground You picked him up just a little bit so you could spit In the face of what he gave you, oh what he made you and If you're going to throw it all, then throw it to the water Tell me, tell me if you feel it all And just throw it to the water

If you're gonna break his heart could you break it gently pleas

Cos he is all you've got and you are all he needs and If you're going to throw it all, then throw it to the water Tell me, tell me if you feel it all

Feel it all
And just throw it to the water
