

The Sadness

Sandi Thom

Baby I'm sure you know I didn't wanna walk home alone
Baby I'd play some records but you've ruined every one I own
And if I could only rest my head for a while and not dream of you
A bittersweet moment of solitude now you made me miss you

The sadness is the hardest part of loving you
Like a gambling soul whose lost his doe on a one horse race
Oh boy you leave me blue
Seems like there's nothing I can do

Baby was it something wrong I've done or something stupid that I said
Baby did I drink too much for you to share my bed?
You know I never was the jealous kind but I wonder where you've gone tonight?
My imaginations running wild now you've made me miss you

The sadness is the hardest part of loving you
Like a gambling soul whose lost his doe on a one horse race
Oh boy you leave me blue
Since I've been missing you

Why don't you dial my number
Tell me that you're sorry and you're on your way
Well I'll be waiting with the lights on
Talking to myself saying it was yesterday

The sadness is the hardest part of loving you
Like a gambling soul whose lost his doe on a one horse race
Oh boy you leave me blue
Boy you leave me blue
No there's nothing I can do
Boy you leave me blue
Since I've been missing you
Seems like there's nothing I can do
