Let Go Control

and i know that i should let you go to let you be with all the thoughts you loathe awake and stare across the sea in hopes that you will dream but nothing's free we take our lives we'll never die and we'll learn what was right this chance wont be the last one this chance wont be the last one we take our lives we'll never die and we'll learn what was right this chance wont be the last one this chance wont be the last one i'll give you time to spend alone and once the pain is gone, your light will let us know set free, now you can try and speak the words that you would see i already know we take our lives we'll never die and we'll learn what was right this chance wont be the last one this chance wont be the last one we take our lives we'll never die and we'll learn what was right this chance wont be the last one this chance wont be the last one we take our lives we'll never die and we'll learn what was right this chance wont be the last one this chance wont be the last one we take our lives we'll never die and we'll learn what was right this chance wont be the last one this chance wont be the last one we changed our lives we'll never die this chance wont be the last one this chance wont be the last one we changed our lives we'll never die this chance wont be the last one this chance wont be the last one we take our lives we'll never die

Saosin

and we'll learn what was right this chance wont be the last one this chance wont be the last one we take our lives we'll never die and we'll learn what was right this chance wont be the last one this chance wont be the last one we take our lives we'll never die and we'll learn what was right we take our lives we'll never die we take our lives we'll never die