

Different Kinds Of Happy

Sara Groves

Go on and ask me anything what do you need to know I'm not holding on to anything I'm not willing to let go of to be free, to be free

I've got to ask you something but please don't be afraid there's a promise here that's heavier than your answer might weigh baby it's me, it's me

It's a sweet, sweet thing standing here with you and nothing to hide light shining down to our very insides sharing our secrets, bearing our souls, helping each other come clean

Secrets and cyphers there's no good way to hide there's redemption in confession and freedom in the light I'm not afraid, I'm not afraid

Better than our promises is the day we got to keep them I wish those two could see us now they never would believe how there are different kinds of happy
different kinds of happy
different kinds of happy
