

Lonely Parade

Sarah Blackwood

Well this life ain't so simple babe, when you're playing alone
And this demon's intentions are to chase you with a lonely parade

So I'll try and make this simple babe, cause your light could burn out

Once you have some conception of what consists of a lonely parade

"What's that?" you say

It's the devil on stilts

A man with a temper with a vengeance he kills

A snake full of venom that you just can't resist

Do you think you'll work out?

Your friends ain't so friendly babe, put a lock on your cage
And you're touring with peril, a tall handsome rebel, with a dangerous smile

They'll hand you some evil babe, they'll say give this a try
And you'll jump on the wagon, with a rusty old dragon in this lonely parade

"What's that?" you say

It's the devil on stilts

A man with a temper with a vengeance he kills

A snake full of venom that you just can't resist

And just hold on

A girl swingin'around with a blade that don't miss

An archer with arrows that sting like a kiss

A clown that'll haunt you put a knife in your back

Do you think you'll work out?

Well i know what you're thinkin', your blood doesn't lie

You're telling yourself this will be the last time

But this old dusty mirror, is calling your name

Who's in control now, is it you my darling?

It's the devil on stilts

Aman with a temper with a vengeance he kills

Asnake full of venom that you just can't resist

And just hold on

A girl swingin'around with a blade that don't miss

An archer with arrows that sting like a kiss

A clown that'll haunt you put a knife in your back

I don't think you'll work out

Oooo.
