

Arrival

Sarah Brightman

Sing, sing, sing the song they sang
With us when they sailed away
Bring, bring, bring them back again
To these lonely shores one day

We'll be here awaiting their arrival
How that moment's gonna shine
May they ring then in our hearts
The jubilant bells of 'Auld Lang Syne'

Sing, sing, sing, the song of sirens
If that is what it takes
Bring, bring, bring them back again
To to each lonely heart that aches

I'll be first to know of your arrival
I'll be first to pour the wine
May they ring, then in our hearts
The jubilant bells of 'Auld Lang Syne'

I'll be first to know of your arrival
I'll be first to pour the wine
May they ring, then in our hearts
The jubilant bells of 'Auld Lang Syne'

Sing, sing, sing a song of sadness
That they are so long gone
Bring, bring, bring a ray of hope
And the courage to go on

We'll be here awaiting their arrival
How that moment's gonna shine
May they ring then in our hearts
The jubilant bells of 'Auld Lang Syne'

We'll be here awaiting their arrival
How that moment's gonna shine
May they ring then in our hearts
The jubilant bells of 'Auld Lang Syne'

Sing, sing, sing the song they sang
With us when they sailed away
