

Everybody Loves You

Sasha

You're part of some heaven, but you're feeling like hell.
an interesting ideal for someone to sell.
You're high on your profile (but you) wanna lay low.
You're living the lifestyle right here on public show,
In control, so smile as they come and go and

Everybody loves you for every single step you take and everybody knows you for every single word you say and you know that it is true no one knows you better than you do

One look in the mirror (and tell me) what do you see?
A person quite ordinary that you used to be
A little more make-up will help to erase Enough of the memories you need to play the game, all the same, everyday in your own way and Could you throw a shadow?

(There's a dark side to us all)
Would we see you cry?
(No, I've never stopped and tried)
Surrounded by good intentions
(But you're still misunderstood)
Remember who you'll leave behind